Leave the familiar places of your life for the adventure and beauty of Camp Hanover's 595 acres. Explore our place apart (only 30 minutes from downtown Richmond, VA). Discover the unfamiliar: a beaver slapping its tail on the water; a white-tailed deer standing at attention as you approach; the far-away call of the owl echoing through the darkness; the joy of watching a shooting star streak across the night sky; cool sand oozing between your toes as you walk in a tree-shaded stream; the goodness of blueberries plucked from a bush along the Laurel Trail; awakening to the stillness of a fog-blanketed morning after spending the night in the treehouse. As you encounter the unfamiliar, find the courage to learn more about yourself and the wonders of God.

Paul Wright, senior pastor at FPC, envisioned Menucha as a place of retreat and ministry. Menucha rests within the boundaries of the Columbia Gorge National Scenic Area, famous for waterfalls, vistas and hundreds of miles of hiking trails. Much of Menucha still lies untouched. Deer, elk and coyote make their own paths to spring-fed streams. Guests may walk and hike among mixed deciduous and evergreen trees, old growth forest and amazing specimens of Copper Beech, Chestnut, Scarlet Oak and European Birch. Stroll through Menucha's rockery, a million dollar masterpiece of landscaped rock in its' day, with delightful lily ponds, secret gardens and ferned grotto. A full-size summer swimming pool sits on the edge of the bluff. Picnic tables and park benches dot the area, providing scenic vistas for quiet contemplation and reflection.

The facilities at NaCoMe are the result of the love and stewardship of Presbyterians in our churches. No, these are not the NaCoMe summer cabins from “back in the day.” We have six big cabins that each sleeps 32 people. Each cabin has four bedrooms, and four private bathrooms. There is a meeting room with a fireplace in the center of the room. All of these buildings have central heating and air conditioning and are handicapped accessible. Our newest cabin is Cabin 9, which sleeps 16 people. It also has four separate rooms each with private bath. Cabin 9 has a lovely decking system, but is a steep climb. We have several other cabins in camp that can be used in 3 seasons for large groups up to 250.

An adult retreat center in Alamo, Contra Costa County, California for nonprofit groups of 12-50. An ideal setting for adult groups, Westminster Retreat provides a peaceful, quiet place for meetings. Conveniently located in the East Bay just south of Walnut Creek, Westminster is surrounded by informal gardens and 100-year-old oak trees. To the east, enjoy a spectacular view of Mt. Diablo and to the west, the golden hills of Las Trampas Regional Park. Build in 1928, Westminster Retreat was once a private home and large orchard. In 1953, the Englehart family sold the estate to the Presbytery of San Francisco. We are fortunate that this elegant home and its' grounds can still be enjoyed today.
